Survey to Provide Needed School Info Community

by Joe Schrader random community opinion survey that may well determine the direction School administrators and Board members take in the future will soon be launched here in the Crawford-Au-Sable School district.

School Board Superintendent Dr. William Diedrich announced today that a team of volunteers has been organized to conduct the study, designed to provide information to school officials and the Board of Education about how area residents are reacting to the operation of the school

The survey, or questionnaire, concerning school operation has now been prepared and will be personally distributed to 350 local school district residents, selected at random, with the results returned to the school system for review and analy-

"We want our school system to be one that adequately and professionally represents the needs of the community," Diedrich commented in a recent interview. That sense of direction we hope to achieve by way of this survey."

In a randomly selected sampling of local school district residents, representing about 10% of the schools population, information concerning how the system represents itself to the area is expected to be determined

C.O.O.R., according Diedrich, has agreed provide a Survey Research Specialist to compile the questionnaire answers and provide its results to the school system. This is possible through a State Dept. of Education title grant. Compilation of survey results would otherwise have cost local schools about $2500.

Bits O'Talk

by Fay Bovee

Spring is only a few days away and although we don't expect any flowers to bloom on the day that spring arrives, someone suggested that the community of Grayling, particularly the parents and school-age children, receive a bouquet for their cooperation in the Reyes Syndrome testing. To my know ledge over 1100 children showed up for blood tests, all accompanied by their parents, com-pletely overwhelming the Health Denartment and the University of Michigan research team Long lines formed in the elementary school and people waited in line patiently. One resident commented that they heard no complaining, even from small children who had to wait so long. Congratulations, Grayling! Maybe this community will be the key that unlocks the mystery of a very dreaded disease, let's hope so.

Ralph Kaseman spent a most enjoyable vacation in St. Peters-burg, West Palm Beach, Daytona and Ocala. He says that he got in a lot of golf with some Grayling friends.

David Somerville and Gret-chen Dice, children of Mr. and Mrs. George Dice spent their week of extra vacation with their grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Roberts, in Ithaca.

George Dice is now teaching for Holloway Real-Estate Institute and has an area consisting of all of the northern lower, peninsular and the entire UP. He is scheduling various classes and will be teaching. Det. Sgt. Mike and Janice

From Our Corner ...

We were saddened Tuesday morning when we arrived at work...we learned we had lost another friend during the night...time today does not allow us to rewrite it. As we sit here tonight wondering what may be news worthy, the only thought at the moment is that March 17th comes up on a Saturday, which should help all the Leprechauns really have a field day on their sacred Saint Patrick's Day...at least they will have Sunday to get ready for the normal work day on Monday...we do have in mind one that will need the extra day of grace...

The rest of our column was put together Monday

We mentioned last week about the contents of Letters to the Editor...being of constructive criticism...accolades.... but not petty personal greviences...

We are remiss, only because we did receive a constructive criticism letter the week we returned from the west...and through all the problems of bringing the Avalanche to our readers, this one was mislaid. The writer was Al Harland, Jr.

The essence of his letter was..."no longer am I a local business person, but, he would like to know how come... people in the school system...or county or city government go out side of Crawford County to buy equipment that is available through tax paying businesses with in the county?

In his letter he zeroed in on the band department of the high school on purchasing equipment from Gaylord concerns and not here where the same is available...and some of the equipment was not really needed at the time the student was able to perform with it...

At had a few other adjectives toward the situation...but, we do go along with his thoughts...the merchants, no matter what kind of product they sell...if any local tax supported office or institution in the county should before they commit themselves to highpowered out side salesmen check with the local merchant...they are the ones who are paying the salaries of those who may feel they are the superior, and they don't have to listen to anyone.

It is a sad situation. We have to wonder what would happen if all the merchants here would say no to all the requests for ads in the several school promotions these are above the taxes they pay to just open the doors for the students to walk through)

But then, it is not only the schools...it is with most public offices...county, township, city...many, many things are not available from other businesses in the county, we realize this, but there are many things here that the purchaser does not even try to find out if they are available.

There is the saying, scratch the back who scratches yours...sometimes it has become evident, one needs to have

The Bible Speaks afrom Calvary Baptist Church

Who Partakes At Baptist Communion?

March 15, 1979 In Christian circles there are three general types of com-munion practiced, closed, open and close. In closed munion only baptized members of one particular church, being in good standing, are invited to partake. In open communion everyone is welcome to partake regardless of religious beliefs or

At Calvary Baptist Church of Grayling we practice close communion. By this we mean each person is to examine his self in light of God's Word and make a personal decision when the elements are passed Let us examine the Bible reasons we practice close com-

It is the Lord's Supper I Cor. 11:20. It is not the supper of any one church or denomination. The elements remind us by symbolism that we mu spiritually feed on Jesus Christ and His Word for growth and spiritual strength. It is our fellowship with Jesus Christ which is pictured and not ou fellowship with a certain church

It is the Lord's Invitation And when he had given thanks he brake it, and said, Take, eat this is my body, which is broken for you: This do in remem-brance of me." I Cor. 11:24. Notice four important words. Take, eat" and "This do", The context is after Christ ascended into Heaven and the Holy Spirit through the apostle Paul gave the Corinthian church this infor our sins. 4. It is man's personal responsibility to determine per sonal worthiness on the basis of God's Word. "But let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup." I Cor. 11:28. To partake of the Lord's table unworthily makes one guilty of the body and blood of the Lord. Verse 27. It can result in weakness, sickness or death, Verses 29 3 30. Since the individual is personally responsihie for his actions, he should make the decisions practiced by the local New Testament churches in Acts 2:41 42. Then they that gladly received his word (Saved) were

THOUGHT FOR FOOD By GOULD CROOK

Cheese Fondue

Cheese is a nutritional food as it contains protein, fat and vitamins necessary to body requirements. Eggs and cheese have proven to be good for us so we're doing ourselves a favor to combine the two for a filling dish without the costly pieces of meat.

1 pound grated cheddar cheese 1 tablespoon flour 1 small bottle club soda —yes — club soda 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Dash of tobasco 1 tablespoon butter 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard 1 egg yolk, beaten lightly Cut French bread in hunks so that each will have some crust.

Combine shredded cheese with flour. Combine soda butter and seasonings in saucepan and simmer. Add cheese and flour mixture slowly while stir-ring constantly. Cook until all cheese melts and continue stirring until mixture thickens. Remove from heat and add a little cheese mixture to beaten egg yolk. Simmer for just a few seconds - not boil and stir constantly. Serve with the bread chunks by dipping them into your super cheese Fondue.

The High Cost Of Age Bias

Nearly 40 million working Americans are middle-aged or older people. They are men and women holding top positions in industry and government, and they are workers producing a wide variety of goods and services. As a group, they have no serious job problems--so long as they are regularly employed. Yet workers over 40 who lose their jobs commonly have great trouble finding new ones, and the search is increasingly difficult as they grow older

Employer reluctance to hire these workers persists despite a wealth of evidence age discrimination makes no sense at all. Welldocumented research findings show that, by every common measure of job performance, older men and women are good workers. For example, a survey of thousand clerical workers showed that older employees had a steadier rate of output than did younger ones. Again, a study using precise productivity measures found that older semiskilled operatives were just as productive as younger ones. And a survey of nearly 18,000 workers reported that the number of workdays lost for all reasons decreased with age The costs of age discrimination are high Besides personal hardship, they include disproportionate public expenditures on unemployment insurance for older workers. A less obvious cost is the productivity loss associated with neglect of older workers' skills and experience. It is a loss the Nation can ill afford just now, when high productivity is essential to meeting competition by foreign products, justifying wage raises, and achieving a healthy economy.

To focus attention on this problem. National Employ the Older Worker Week being observed March 11 to 17. It is a good time for each of us to examine our attitudes toward older workers. It is a time too for employers to consider carefully whether any lingering bias against older workers affects their employment practices. Hiring on the basis of ability, not age, is a matter of basic fairness. It is also good business

Who's Who Behind Lunch Menu

by Lisa Eaton

Have you ever wondered who is responsible for quieting the growling stomachs of nearly one thousand students in our school district? The credit goes primarily to a group of dynamite ladies who run the kitchen/cafeteria in the Grayling Flementary School. Let it be known however, that although these radies can be seen working at the Grayling Elementary School, their services extend far beyond. In addition to preparing breakfast and lunch for the Grayling Elementary children, the cooks also propare the meal for the Middle School, Frederic Elementary, and Head Start Making a nutritious meal for the children does not mean simply opening a can of soup and heating it or putting a little something between two slices of bread. A great deal of time and energy goes into the planning and preparation of each meal.

One might assume that because so many children need to be ted, lunchtime might turn into an assembly line production. Such is not the case. Granted, each classroom has be designated time for lunch, and the children must stand in line, white waiting to be served, but there is a distinct difference between the school cafeteria and the mechanical assembly line of a large corporation---humanness and caring.

To The Editor:

When I read the in the aper that two local attorneys took the case for the prisoners in our jail, I was shocked, disgusted & downright mad. If there was a reason such as brutality of mistreatment of any kind I could understand.

Everyone who has had any connections or been around our jail knows better. They are not drafted in prison or lail, it is by their own choice. Most of them are fed a better halanced diet than they had in private life, and also cleaner than they were used to. Don't they give up some privileges when they commit crime against society?

Why did they take such a case? Is it for publicity? Or is for money? I just don't understand. God knows we pay enough taxes without this expense imposed upon us. Regardless of outcome in court the taxpayers of this County will have to pay Some of the decisions of our judicial system in the United States are not for the good of the Country.

Constitutional tinkering feared

RICHARD MILLIMAN

Number 28 has now fallen in line, with only a handful more to go. Reference is made to the grassroots drive to call a Federal Constitutional Convention to add a plank to our United States Constitution requiring the Federal Constitutional Convention to operate with a balanced budget each year.

I sincerely hope the required 34-state approval is not reached. As I've mentioned before in this corner, I'm all in favor of balanced governmental budgets. But I'm also scared to death of what a convention of modern-day thinkers would do to our Constitution if they got a chance.

For example, do you really think we could get some of the things in our Constitution today that our Founding Fathers included? For an exercise in citizenship sometime, just go back and read our Constitution, including the Bill of Rights, and think about it a bit. It's worked pretty well for a couple of hundred years, with the amendments along the way. We should be very, very, very careful in doing anything to put the Constitution in jeopardy. And that includes, in my view, the proposed convention to write the balancedbudget plank.

As I've noted before, I'm all in favor of balanced governmental budgets ... but I'm also more than a little skeptical whether a mandated prohibition against out-of-balance governments would be Somehow, effective. government spenders seem to find a way around sensible spending limits.

For example, I recall the year President Nixon presented a "balanced budget". Of course, you had to pretend a few things...such as full employment. as I recall. But it was "balanced" when it left the Executive Office.

And there have been several "balanced budgets" in Michigan. Like the time Michigan invented th 15-month fiscal year; that worked for one time around, permitting certain annual tax collections twice in the same "fiscal year", and the budget was "balanced"

Where there's a will to spend tax payers' money, there's a way to do -regardless of prohibitions against deficit spending.

A recent Gallup Poll showed the American people by a whopping 6-to-1 margin in favor of a proposed balanced budget amendment. If a provision permitting exceptions for emergency situations is included, the approval margin soars to 84 percent. Just maybe balanced budgets in government is an idea whose time has come.

The Gallup Poll went a step further in asking where cuts should be made if spending should be limited. The pollsters listed five programs in which. the federal government would spend the greatest amount of money under the new $532 billion Carter budget.

According to newspaper accounts of the Gallup results, the favorite cutting spot was welfare, favored by 54 percent to chop in case of spending limits. Next came defense as a target favored by 29 percent, while 9 percent chose health, 8 percent listed education, and 5 percent chose Social Security.

Cutting spending is bitter medicine for most politicians and welfare is a favorite target anyway.

Some public figures have rather definite ideas on where to cut. Sen. Alan Cranston of California, for example, came out the other day in favor of ending the federal revenue sharing program which sends federal money to states. Whether Cranston favors an end to the revenue sharing program which reaches local units (except school districts) was not clear, but he wants to cut off aid to states.

"The U.S. Treasury has been borrowing money and deepening the federal budget (deficit) year after year while money piles up in state treasuries," Cranston said. He claimed the federal government could save about $2.3 billion this year that way.

Can't you just hear the cries in Lansing, and Columbus, and Indianapolis and other state capitals if Cranston's view were to prevail? Most federal funds channeled through states have gone into one program or another, and to cut off the spigot certainly would bring walling and grashing to teeth.

Probably it would bring higher state taxes, too, to replace the lost federal aid. That just seems to be the way government has always worked.

News of Good Things Growing

Good things are growing in Michigan! The largest crop of apples since 1896 was harvested last year totaling 800 million pounds, 40 percent increase over 1977, according to the Mich.

Department of Agriculture: Our state led the nation in production of Jonathans. Northern Spies, and Ida Reds, a cross developed in 1942 between Jonathan and Wagener varieties.

Apples not marketed during fall are kept in cold and controlled atmosphere (CA) storage through winter and springs months to insure consumers have ample supplies until the summer harvest begins.

Apples kept in cold storage, with temperatures of 32 to 36 degrees, will maintain freshness for three to six months. When these supolies become scarce, CA apples are marketed. About three and a half million bushels of apples are currently being stored in 267 CA rooms around the state.

CA storage is currently unlique to apples although testing continues with other fruits and vegetables. This scientific method slows preathing, or aging, processes through the lack of

You mention in your column March 8, 1970 that you prefer the letters sent to your column be accolades for the populous of Crawford County. I think this letter might be just that

My husband and I belong to the Crawford County Branch of the American Red Cross and this week on Wednesday and Thursday, March 7th and 8th we witnessed this community show their concern for their children to a degree that was beyond belief. They came in large numbers and stood in line for as long as an hour and a half to have their children tested for the Reyes Syndrome study. We saw little people sit to have blood drawn with expressions ranging from just curiosity to pure-terror. We saw technicians stand from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. bent over a table caiming these children as they drew the blood. We saw volunteers who worked without breaks long after their scheduled time because we were short of volunteers and the lines never seemed to get

It was a beautiful experience working with the District Health Group who worked both days without a stop. It is a honor to know them and all the Doctors and Technicians were videdicated and most patient.

And I want to thank the volunteers that I called Tuesday, who came and stayed long hours to help. Mr. and Mrs. George Pamerleau, Marge Mar-tello, Ruth Wheaton, Beth Wieland, Nancy Hoffman, Lillian Kitchen, Rosella Matyn, Mary Kelly, Jane Barber, Mary Allen Gale Prause, Val Lehti, Thelma Bateman, the High School students who helped while we were at the school, the young lady who came to the Elemen-School and asked if we needed help and stayed three hours and the women who came Thursday morning whose names I did not get, and one husband. Howard, who figured he kind of got 'roped in' and stayed to

And again our McDonald's Restaurant came through with sandwiches and coffee for the crews that worked Wednesday through the supper hour.

This study is to be done again in about three weeks, tentatively April 4, 1979 and I would like anyone who is interested in helping and would have some time on that date to contact me at 348-8081.

Very truly yours Mrs. Howard (Kay) VanDeWate

Dear Mr. Madsen:

This letter is a contribution of thoughts by the folks living at Timberview Village and the Village Manor in Frederic, Mich. Because of our age or our disability and our living situation, we have come to know the real value of a Dial-A-Ride program. Because we believe the luture of Dial-A-Ride de pends on the benevolent atti-tude of the voting population of the community, we would like to take this opportunity to explain via this avenue our gratitude in the past for the fine provided us by the Dial-A-Ride program through the direction of Chet Johnson who has seen that the service we receive is excellent The benefits we derive, in particular, are:

Door-to-door service for doctors' visits, shopping, trips to the Senior Citizens' Center, ability to attend particular church

2. Because of our circumstances, the driver of a Dial-A-Ride bus also helps with boarding the bus and getting off the bus upon arrival at

The continuation of our independence in adversity is also made possible because of the Dial-A-Ride program.

4. When the Dial-A-Ride program goes to the ballot it also effect our taxes. because many of us own our own homes yet, and the facilities we are staying at also will pay taxes, to provide these services. We bring this to your attention because this program is not just another welfare program. EVERYONE qualifies to use this program. It is not for a particular group.

If you are undecided or planning on voting no to the millage, please present this editorial and enjoy a free ride on Dial-A-Ride, compliments of

Thanking you in advance for your consideration, we are Sincerely yours,
